CURTIS TO HAVE VOICE IN CABINET

Accepts Hoover's Proposal, in Event of Election, to Sit in Councils

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 19. (P)—Herbert Hoover today invited his running mate, Senator Curtis, to join in the Cabinet meetings in the event of a Republican success in the election. The Vice-Presidential nominee accepted the proposal.

In proposing this course, Mr. Hoover is following the precedent established by President Harding. During his term of office, Mr. Hoover had Vice-President Coolidge join in the Cabinet meetings.

Vice-President Davis declined a similar invitation from President Coolidge.

HOOPER IN HIGHWAY TALKS

New Mexicans Hear Nominee

Candidate at Albuquerque Extols Character of State's Citizenship

Quotes Kearney Flag-Raising Speech on Spirit of American Liberty

ABOARD HOOPER TRAIN EN ROUTE TO DODGE CITY (Kan.) Aug. 19. (P)—Herbert Hoover praised New Mexico today as the State which cherished "the atmosphere of economic freedom," which alone permits "full scope for initiative and individuality."

Returning to the State in which he spent almost a year as a young mining engineer thirty years ago, he related that he always came back "with a revival of most pleasant recollections."

He recalled that the last visit he had paid to the State was when he spent a month in working out the Santa Fe settlement of the Colorado compact problem.

Colorful scenes greeted the candidate as his special train made brief stops at the little towns which dot the State at far intervals. Sun-tanned men of the desert pushed forward to grasp his hand, while stolid Indians, wearing heavy blankets in the face of an almost stifling heat, watched the proceedings with a flicker of curiosity.

While adhering to his rule against public political discussions on Sunday, Hoover had a word of thanks for the reception given him along the line.

EXTOLLS CITIZENSHIP

At Albuquerque he made a more extended talk. He paid high tribute to the citizenship which was being developed in the State from the blending of English, Spanish and Indian civilizations. He termed as the "true spirit of American liberty" the statement of Gen. Kearney in raising the American flag in the State that all men are equal, and "every man has a right to serve God according to his conscience and to live as he sees fit."

"I always receive inspiration from New Mexico," he said. "It represents a beautiful mingling of three civilizations. The fine qualities of Spanish civilization brought by the early Spanish friars, who came with the first words of Christ were blended into the still earlier civilization, while the coming of the people from the United States brought the stimulation of modern life."

"In this mingling of three civilizations, you are working out the best qualities of these races into common American citizenship. The historic past has left its many records; the present has impressed in its service the powers of social progress. By your uniting of the best of these civilizations you have given a distinctive character to your cities and your State. You have preserved the motifs of the earlier civilization in your architecture; and in your mode of living you are giving to this part of the United States a color that is a constant tribute to those who would complain that our modern industrialism is stamping out individuality and character."

"I like to remember in these days the occasion of raising the American flag in this State by Gen. Kearney, when he made a statement that it is as true today as it was then. He said:

"We come as friends to make this a part of representative government. In our government all men are equal."

The organization is incorporated as World Wide Pictures, Inc. to sell and distribute exclusive import films. Its releases are to begin in the fall.

ATHENS (Greece) Aug. 19. (P)—Early results in the Grecian parliamentary elections from Athens, Piraeus, Salonika, Patras and Janina, give large majorities to the followers of Premier Eleutherios Venizelos.

Other constituencies, previously strongly Royalist, yielded many Venizelos votes.

"This is the Forest's Prime Evil"

Explorer Fawcett Slain by Savages in Jungle

Dyott, Now Fleeing for Life From Indians, Radios Brief Message of His Grisly Discoveries

The following message has just been received from Commander Dyott, who set out at the beginning of the year to solve the mysterious disappearance of the British explorer, Col. Fawcett, and his men, in the Brazilian wilderness more than three years ago. The message, herewith, was sent by Dyott's operator, William Demello, to the press office of Rio de Janeiro. Mr. Dyott then relayed the message to Robert Lloyd of Emworth, Pa., who in turn sent it to William W. McDonald, Jr., of Hollis, N. Y. Mr. McDonald transmitted the message to The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

BY COMMANDER GEORGE M. DYOTT

(Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

EAST OF KULUENE RIVER (Brazil) Aug. 18. (By radio.)—I am sorry to report that the Fawcett expedition perished at the hands of hostile Indians during July, 1925, five days after it crossed the Kuluene River, an affluent of the Xingu.

We successfully followed Fawcett's trail, although we were hampered by losing much food in the rapids.

Indians who went with Fawcett agreed to show us their remains in the jungle, but complications with another tribe prevented our going to the spot.

Our position is critical. We have suffered much. Many of the men are ill with fever and our resources have dwindled. We cannot even afford time to send full details by wireless. We must descend the Xingu without delay or we ourselves will be caught.

SEVERAL TROUBLE

We have had serious trouble with the Indians and only avoided a clash by strategy.

This message has cost us a great effort to send, but tell our friends that we are on our way out before it is too late.

We hope to reach Para at the beginning of October.

Before the radio signed off Mr. Demello, he said that he was going to get a personal message back to William Demello, Dyott's operator, asking if there would be any further messages.

Demello replied:

"This will be the last message by wireless as we are compelled to drop the apparatus because of its unbearable load."

SEARCH RECALLED

Nearly four years ago, Col. P. H. Fawcett, the celebrated British explorer, organized an expedition to search for the remains of a lost civilization which he believed hidden somewhere in that vast expanse of unknown territory stretching between the Xingu and Tapajos rivers in Brazil.

Col. Fawcett was accompanied by his son, Jack, 21 years of age, and Raleigh Rimell, 23, of Los Angeles. The last dispatch Col. Fawcett sent to the outside world was dated May 20, 1925.

As time progressed various reports came from Brazil regarding the whereabouts of the Fawcett expedition but none of them could be verified. A Frenchman named Courteville said he had met a man he believed was Col. Fawcett in November, 1927, in Matto Grosso, but this subsequently was found to be a case of mistaken identity.

RESCUE PARTY

Despite the failure to hear from him, Col. Fawcett's friends continued to insist that he was still alive in the wilderness of Brazil. They pointed out that the colonel was not provided with an elaborate equipment, rather the reverse, and this of itself would account for the failure to send any messages back to civilization.

The interest among explorers and the geographical societies of the world in the fate of Col. Fawcett and his men continued to increase rather than decrease. Commander Dyott organized an expedition with the purpose of rescuing Col. Fawcett and his men if they were still alive or in any event solving the mystery of their disappearance.

Don Mix, radio expert of the Burgess battery station, Madison, Wis., received all reports known to have been sent by the Greater Rockford station, KX-LX, at Mt. Evans, Colorado, on a wave band of 32.2. He was unable to get a call signal since 3 a.m. today, but he is continuing at his post tonight.

GOEBEL FLIGHT UNDER WAY

Reported Over Phoenix After Take-off from Mines Field in Nonstop Hop to New York

EL PASO, Aug. 19. (P)—The Fort Bliss flying field near here, at 10 o'clock tonight had heard nothing from Art Goebel, scheduled to pass over here on route to New York from Los Angeles. It was said at the field, however, that Goebel might have changed his course after having been sighted at Phoenix, Ariz., at 4 p.m., to miss this point on his itinerary.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 19.—A large monoplane believed to be the Yankee Doodle in which Art Goebel hopped off from Los Angeles on an attempted nonstop flight to New York City, passed over Phoenix at a low altitude about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Art Goebel, winner of the Dole Hawaiian race, took off from Mines Field at 12:08 p.m. yesterday in the white Lockheed-Vega monoplane, Yankee Doodle, in an attempted nonstop flight to New York.

Harry Tucker, Santa Monica sportsman and backer of the flight, accompanied Goebel.

The Yankee Doodle took off easily, despite the capacity load of 450 gallons of gasoline and twenty-five gallons of oil. Goebel said he plans to follow the southern route partially, and then plot his way directly to Long Island, N. Y.

If local storms in the path of the flyers do not force them to digress from their route too much, they should make the trip in less than twenty hours. The plane is equipped with a Hornet motor and is scheduled to make the voyage in fourteen days.

NEWPORT NEWS (Va.) Aug. 19. (P)—The International Mercantile Marine steamer Virginia, said to be the largest and most completely equipped merchant and passenger vessel ever built in the United States, was launched yesterday while several thousand persons, including a group of members of the Shipping Board, were spectators.

The Virginia is to be operated by the International Mercantile Marine from New York to Los Angeles and San Francisco via the Panama Canal. She is expected to make the voyage in fourteen days.

BOY KILLED IN MISHAP

EUREKA, Aug. 19. (P)—John Connick, 13 years of age, of New York, was fatally injured, and Harris Connick, his brother, and Philip Fields, a cousin from Portland, were injured in an automobile accident last night near Ferndale, twenty-five miles south of here.

Hassell Fails to Reach Goal

Last Word from Pair Going to Greenland Heard When Off Labrador Coast

Greater Rockford Capable of Staying in Air Only Twenty-six Hours

ROCKFORD (Ill.) Aug. 19. (P)—"No sign of Hassell yet. Long overdue."

Those words tonight radiated from Mt. Evans, Greenland, to the Rockford Chamber of Commerce, apparently rang the knell of the flight of the Greater Rockford, piloted by Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer.

The message was signed by Elmer Bass, plane headquarter, and stated that the flight to await the Greater Rockford's arrival.

The Greater Rockford was flying from Copenhagen, Den., to Mt. Evans on the second leg of its flight from Rockford to Stockholm, Sweden. It was scheduled to arrive at Mt. Evans at 8 a.m. today.

Radio signals were received until 3 a.m. today, at which time they stated the plane was out seventy-five miles from the coast of Labrador, 400 miles from its goal, and going strong.

Hope that the flyers might have attained their destination was strong during the day, however, because it was impossible for radio station KX-LX, at Mt. Evans, to communicate with the United States during the day.

HOPES SHATTERED

The station is part of the University of Michigan Greenland expedition and is too weak to transmit successfully except at night. The messages from Elmer, however, dampened the hopes of the most optimistic.

Don Mix, radio expert of the Burgess battery station, Madison, Wis., received all reports known to have been sent by the Greater Rockford station, KX-LX, at Mt. Evans, Colorado, on a wave band of 32.2. He was unable to get a call signal since 3 a.m. today, but he is continuing at his post tonight.

BUS TRANSPORT LINES MERGED

First Coast-to-Coast System Announced

New York Designated as Eastern Terminal

Stages Will Be Run to Many Western Centers

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Consolidation of the Capital Terminal of New York and the newly organized American Motor Transportation Company to form what is believed to be the first coast-to-coast motor bus transportation system, was announced today. New York, under the consolidation, becomes the main eastern terminal, with lines radiating to San Francisco and other far western cities and others to be established between this city and Boston, Washington and Baltimore. The unit will be known as the Yellowway Pioneer System, Inc.

W. E. Travis, president of the $1,500,000 consolidated system, said that more than 150 small companies or bus route operators now are part of the system and that when additions are completed the company's lines will operate over approximately 70,000 miles daily. Joint tariff arrangements have been made with other lines, so that it will be possible to buy tickets for transportation between practically any two points in the country, the president added.

In addition to the new routes in the East, it is planned to establish lines between Indianapolis and Detroit via Fort Wayne, Chicago and Pittsburgh via Fort Wayne; and Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Operating subsidiaries include the California Transit Company on the Pacific Coast; Pioneer Southwestern Stages from Los Angeles to Denver, and Pioneer Stages east of that city.

"Fritz," according to his mistress, goes after golf balls like a retriever after wild duck and Miss Patrick hasn't purchased a new golf ball for two years because of the spaniel's prowess. One day recently Fritz retrieved forty-nine balls which had been lost in the rough by golfers.

Huge Shortage Blamed on Gang

CHICAGO, Aug. 19. (AP)—Roy O. Toombs, Chicago and St. Louis financier, was under guard of a United States marshal today at his own request, for fear that he might be kidnapped.

If he were free, Toombs explained, the "gang" would be likely to take him to Missouri without extradition proceedings. He blames the "gang" for the disappearance of $3,500,000 in assets of the International Insurance Company of St. Louis, of which he is president. Under the protection of a Federal writ of ne exeat, and an officer, Toombs declared this "gang" is trying to fasten on him the blame for their own acts.

NEGROES BRING SLAVERY TALE

Incredible Conditions Told of Tennessee Island

Five Hundred Enslaved by Liquor Manufacturers

Murder and Barbarities by Moonshiners Charged

(Copyright, 1928, by the News, New York)
MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 19. (AP)—Existence of an independent State, peopled by slaves, ruled by murder and lawlessness, and located within sixty miles of this metropolis of the dry South is charged by Department of Justice officials. Their investigation, which already has resulted in the arrest of two men for violation of the Thirteenth Amendment—abolishing slavery—and the Eighteenth—prohibiting the manufacture of alcohol for beverage purposes—was based on the following charges:

OFFICERS FINDINGS

(1) That Isle No. 34, sixty miles up the Mississippi from Memphis, is the headquarters of a bootlegging gang that supplies this section of the South with most of its liquor.

(2) That the liquor output on this island alone is estimated at 10,000 gallons a week.

(3) That the bootleggers have made peons of the 800-odd negro inhabitants of the island.

(4) That they have forced these people to help them manufacture liquor by four murders and innumerable beatings.

(5) That the conditions under which they have to live have reduced these inhabitants to a semi-savage state, and men and women live and work nude, or almost nude.

SLAVES ESCAPE
The investigation was started last Monday, when two elderly and panic-stricken negroes, Marcus Hurt and his wife Mary, came to the local prohibition offices and detailed the foregoing charges to Director Howe.

Both had been held in slavery.

GOLD SCALES STILL IN USE

Tucson Firm Retains Set While Mexicans Bring in Precious Dust

TUSCON (Ariz.) Aug. 19. (AP)—In a pioneer Tucson business house still is retained a set of gold scales which dates back more than a half-century. In early days about 400 placer miners were working in the districts tributary to this city, many of them using burros to pack in the water necessary for washing the sand.

The dust, usually with some admixture of silver, was accepted at $16 an ounce. Gold from northern Arizona was purer and was rated at $20. Quills of gold dust occasionally even now are presented in payment of purchases by Mexican placeros.

THEY SAID, FOR MORE THAN A YEAR. They succeeded in getting off the island by smuggling themselves aboard a run-running boat when it picked up the party's cargo. They escaped by dropping over the side of the craft as it slipped down the river at night. They swam to the Tennessee shore.

The couple gave the names of four men they said they saw beaten to death and offered to lead the authorities to the unmarked graves in the island's swamps.

BROTHERS ARRESTED
The island is owned outright by two brothers, Sam and Ad Fraley. Howe sent his men to the island and on their return obtained warrants charging the owners with violation of the Volstead law. He also notified the Department of Justice and they sent investigators to the island.

Last Wednesday the brothers were notified they were wanted. They appeared in Memphis, were arraigned before a United States Commissioner, denied the charges and were admitted to bail. They are to be arraigned Thursday on the peonage charge.

Mexico Denies Rumored Pardon of De La Huerta

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19. (AP)—No application for amnesty for Adolfo de la Huerta has been received, nor has his return to Mexico been authorized, according to Excelsior, which quotes a statement from the Ministry of the Interior, requested in connection with press dispatches from Los Angeles that De la Huerta had secured permission to return to Mexico. The same statement declares that no blanket order to extend amnesty to ex-patriated politicians or other enemies of the government now residing in the United States has been issued, although certain individual applications for pardon have been received and in individual cases have been acted upon, with these instances, however, not considered as establishing a precedent.

Hull comes to this district every six months and states that all requests made to his department will be cared for.

SUIT FOR ASSERTED DEBT ASKS INTEREST

VISALIA, Aug. 19.—J. J. Dunn, through his attorney, Waldo E. Burford of Porterville, has filed suit in the Superior Court here against C. H. Weed, orange grower of Porterville, to collect $706 on asserted account, and $1130 for labor of boring a well on the defendant's property. The complaint also asks 7 per cent interest from the date of filing.

Use of Gas Predicted If and When Strife Comes

Breach of Treaty Likely If Weapon Effective

EVANSTON (Ill.) Aug. 19. (AP)—The United States is better equipped industrially than any other nation in the world to fight a chemical war, H. Edmund Bullis, executive secretary of the National Association for Chemical Defense, stated today at the close of the American Chemical Society Institute at Northwestern University.

Bullis predicted chemicals and gases will be used "in that war of the future, even though a treaty might be ratified prohibiting the use of gas in warfare." The probability of a breach of treaty becomes greater as the effectiveness of the weapon increases, he said. "Many of our best citizens," he said, "believe war will be outlawed so it is not essential for our country to be thoroughly informed regarding the development in the use of gas in warfare and how best to combat it. We have outlawed crime, but we control crime by keeping our

BY THE LATTER PART OF JULY, 1900, A FORMIDABLE INTERNATIONAL FORCE HAD GATHERED AT TIENTSIN TO MARCH TO THE RESCUE OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS AND RESIDENTS BESIEGED BY THE BOXERS IN THE LEGATIONS AT PEKING.

IT WAS AS PICTURESQUE AN ARMY AS EVER HAD BEEN ASSEMBLED. IT NUMBERED 20,000 MEN AND INCLUDED AMERICANS, BRITISH, JAPANESE, BEARDED, TURBANED SIKHS FROM INDIA, RUSSIANS, AUSTRIANS AND ITALIANS.

AT THAT TIME THERE WAS A LARGE AMERICAN ARMY GATHERED IN THE PHILIPPINES TO FIGHT THE INSURGENT AGUINALDO, AND A STRONG BODY OF OUR TROOPS WAS SENT FROM THERE TO HELP SUBDUCE THE BOXERS.

AUGUST 4TH THE RELIEF EXPEDITION BEGAN ITS MEMORABLE MARCH TO PEKING. HORDES OF BOXERS AND CHINESE TROOPS BARRED THE WAY. THE BOXERS WERE NO MATCH AT SOLDIERS FOR THE ALLIED TROOPS, BUT THEIR GREAT SUPERIORITY IN NUMBERS MADE THE INTERNATIONAL ADVANCE SLOW AND DIFFICULT. TOMORROW—FIGHTING BEFORE WALLS OF PEKING.

ORANGE COUNTY WATER LOWER

Flood Control Engineers Admits Decrease
Figures Show Wells to be Below Sea Level

Condition Seen as Spur Conservation Efforts

ORANGE, Aug. 19.—Water being pumped in some sections of Orange county from below sea level at the present time, it was learned yesterday from officials of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company. The water level in wells serving the area is below that point, it was said.

Engineer Paul Bailey of Orange County Flood-Control district admitted that this situation was starting from the point of ranchmen and conservationists and declared that the condition continues. It was a question of time until the water level in the wells was lowered by salt-water seepage. Conservationists saw in the low water level an added spur toward construction of conservation works that will save the waters of the Santa Ana River of the entire local watershed.

Announcement of the low water level pumping in the City followed a statement by the visitor Harold Wahlberg that the average lowering of water level in series of tests made in the area in July was seven feet in a year. The tests, said Wahlberg, were the lowest dropped much more than in previous years, and the water level in the wells was lowered between July, 1927, and 1928, than during the previous twelve months.

Wahlberg estimated that there are more than 2500 wells in the county, that irrigation in the area has increased and the population has also added to the burden upon the water supply. Fourteen pumps consuming water as it is required to keep the area of land.

FUTURE WATER SHOULD EXTEND BEYOND CITY

SANTA ANA, Aug. 19.—The water brought to the community from the Santa Ana River should be a wider scope than now, it was the opinion of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company, which is the engineer for the Orange Flood-Control district.

Any distinction between the agricultural purposes and the industrial or domestic use of water, said Bailey, is only a temporary distinction. Therefore, he said, the water should be distributed over all lands because it is eventually used for the one or the other.

Other words, said Bailey, the water is coming from the Santa Ana River in Southern California will be the thing of the past.

Kojac Expected to Compete for Mercury Club on Return from Olympics

BY FRANK ROCHÉ
Los Angeles Athletic Club aquatic coach, is not letting George Kojac, now on his way back from Europe with the American Olympic team, be staged in our own back yard in 1932.

Kojac, who learned to swim around the New York docks, has been the sensation of the swimming year in some respects. He has swept all opposition before him in backstroke swimming and at the national level.

After winning the singles title, Kojac paired with George Lett of Chicago, a member of the Davis Cup team, to defeat Tilden and Frank Hunter, the national champions, in the doubles final. After losing the first two sets, the young westerner pair staged an exciting uphill battle to win the last three.

The final of the women's doubles was won by the pair of Tilden and Hunter, who defeated the pair of Lett and Kojac.

WOODALL, GLADYS PATZ WIN BEACH NET CROWNS

Running true to form, Ed Woodall, star Alhambra singlet, captured the singles and doubles crowns in the 1928 Santa Monica municipal tennis championships, which ended at Clover Field yesterday. Woodall was favored to win titles in both divisions and he did in a very workmanlike manner that belied the stiff opposition that he received.

The entire list of 1928 beach champions is: Ed Woodall, men's singles; Ed Woodall and Joe Saunders, men's doubles; Gladys Patz, women's singles; Cliff Robbins, junior men's singles; Billy Doeg, boys' singles; Gladys Patz and Clayton Paige, mixed doubles; Dorothy Workman, junior girls' singles.

One upset married the smooth working of the final round yesterday. It occurred in the semifinals of the men's doubles when Cliff Robbins and Clayton Paige eliminated Art Kussman and Chuck Weesner, the favorites, in a torrid

GIANTS TOPPLE CARDS AND MOVE INTO LEAD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 19.—Only 1000 tickets to the California-Stanford big game remain now available to Stanford alumni.

This chilling announcement was made here yesterday by J. O. Irwin, manager of the ticket department of the board of athletic control.

Irwin declared that Stanford alumni, to be eligible to apply for the remaining bunch of 1000 tickets, must show paid-up membership in the alumni association.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19. (AP)—The Giants stamped the promised land in full view of 33,000 alien spectators at Sportsman's Park this afternoon as the Cardinals fell before the sunning of Larry Benton by 3 to 2.

For their third defeat in as many days by identical scores, the Giants advanced to the top of the league.

The victory was Benton's twelfth of the season and his twenty-third complete game. It gave him a record of saving one game and winning another, which is the best record in the history of the Cardinals in three successful seasons.

The record saved Flinn's place in the first engagement only two days ago.

The Cardinals collected nine hits off Benton against the seven the Giants collected from the left arm of Willie Sherdel, but the New York ace seldom was in difficulty.

After New York had taken a lead of three in the fourth, the Cardinals bunched singles by Wilson and Thorenson with Sherdel's infield out for a run in the fifth and picked up another when Ernest Orsatti, recruit obtained from Minneapolis, opened the sixth with a drive into the left-field seats for his second home run in two days.

Benton retained the upper hand through both of these innings, and was the coolest.

Couch, Hulvey Hurl Wins for Speeding Sheiks

Vittmen Have Won Nine Straight Struggles

BY BRAVEN DYER
"Times" Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Bill Lane has been getting his daily victory this week but today the Hard Rock Miner has won.

Bill's ball club presented him two wins over the Miners and Lane was happy, if a bit surprised, as a 2 to 1 favorite would be.

The twins looked exactly alike, as twins often do, the one coming in this morning having a 4-to-1 tag on him and the afternoon arrival being of exactly the same complexion.

NINE STRAIGHT
Altogether Lane has accepted seven straight victories this week, which is a season's record for his ball club and the Old Miner moves over to Sacramento tomorrow resolved to knock the Bolons out of the Star winning streak now totals nine in a row.

Johnny Couch and Hank Hulvey performed the major operations today, the veteran pitcher in the trade from Oakland, doing his stuff in the morning, while Hank was the doctor in the afternoon. Incidentally it was Hulvey's second win of the series, he having captured the opening game, 11 to 3.

Old Thum Agnew and Young Leo Osterberg hit homers for the Stars in the morning tussle while Cleo Carlyle got the only Hollywood circuit smash in the afternoon.

Lane's pitchers set some kind of a record this week. Bill using only six hurriers in seven games and not a single one of the games out of the box until his contest had been won. The Bolons, with seven regulars hitting better than .310, were held to an average of two runs per game.

Bill Hughes and Ernie Nevers were the Bell pitchers today and both hurled nice ball, but not good enough to beat Couch and Hulvey.

The battling spirit of Old Man Lane carried itself in both games.

SERAPHS SPLIT DOUBLE-HEADER

Cunningham Pitches 1-0 Win for Krug in Nightcap

Schulmerich Drives in Run to End Hurling Duel

Seal Sluggers Pound Agate Hard to Annex Opener

BY BOB RAY
Bruce Cunningham and Wes Schulmerich, two of Marty Krug's young fellows, made about 15,000 Los Angeles and Hollywood fans happy out at Wrigley Field yesterday in the second game of the Sabbath twin bill. Schulmerich did his stuff and Cunningham pitched a 1-0 win for Krug in the nightcap.

Inasmuch as the Seals had slugged out a 10-to-8 triumph in the opener, that 1-to-0 Angel victory looked mighty good, not only to Angel but Hollywood fans as well. The Stars gained another game on the Seals yesterday and are now three games in front of San Francisco, the Seals' big rivals.

The Seals also lost ground to the league-leading Senators, who are four games ahead of Nick Wamman's club.

The second game was a tough one for Moudy to lose for he allowed only four hits and did not allow an Angel to get past first until the final inning. Lafayette, who took Tolsen's place at first, opened the seventh with a single to center and Wally Hood, who is as torrid as a punk bunter, astonished all present by laying down a perfect sacrifice. Schulmerich found one to his liking and lined the ball to center for a clean single and it was an easy matter for Lafayette to scramble home with the winning run.

Cunningham was touched for six hits and he walked three, but he was invincible in the three tight places he found himself. Once the Seals had been filled with none out and couldn't score, while on another occasion they had runners on first and third with one out and couldn't squeeze a run over. Bruce fanned six Seals and evidently made quite an impression on Bill Wrigley, who knows, goes to Wrigley's Chicago Cubs next spring.

The Seals put Cunningham in a hole in the first inning, which opened with Johnson drawing a walk. Phillet forced Johnson, but Averill singled in-field. Stanley moved to second and the runners moved to second and third. Jolley was purposely passed to fill the bases. Thorenson worked to second and three-and-two before he hit a mean grounder that Stanley caught for second and just did manage to get the ball.

Reds Bump Braves; Tigers Trip Washington

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Spurred by the ship the Yankees today to see the champions divide a doubleheader with Cleveland. The Indians won the first game by 3 to 2 in ten innings, while the Yankees came back strong to take the second by 10 to 2. The break technically left the relative standing of the Yankees and the Athletics the same with the champions leading by five games, but the net result of the afternoon was slightly to the advantage of the runners-up who remained idle. The Yankees lead now is measured by a difference of six in the winning column and of only four on the losing side, which means that the Mack men in the reckoning of ball players are only four games behind.

Cleveland won the opening game when Martin Aronson touched Freddy Hetmick for a home run in the tenth with Morgan on base. The Yanks came back to score one run in their half of the tenth, driving Hudlin from the box in favor of Bayne, but were unable in the end to match the Cleveland total after getting three out with only one out.

Henry Johnson gave Cleveland only six hits in the second game, and never was in any real danger. The Yankees pounded Uhle, Miljus and Underhill. Scores:

HOLLYWOOD STARS CAPTURE TWO FROM BELLS BY 4-TO-1 SCORES AND SWEEP SERIES

Today, for the Stars scored three times in the ninth in the morning to break a tie and win, and then tallied thrice in the afternoon to put a 1-to-0 game on ice in the final frame. A home run by Lefty Dierker was the only marker made in the Mission half of the ninth. A small-sized riot featured the afternoon encounter, the home fans taking violent exception to a couple of decisions by Umpire Kelli. Chas Becker also came in for his share of boos and didn't please the fans any by sending Red Baldwin and Ed Killebrew to the clubhouse in the first of the ninth. Cough should have had a shut-out in the morning, an error by the usually dependable Lefty paving the way for the Mission's only marker. This was in the third frame. With two out, Mitchell sent a bunt to Osterberg, this being one of the five bingles the Bells got off Cough. Slade hit Lee but Dad bobbled the ball. The Yankees lead now is measured by a difference of six in the winning column and of only four on the losing side, which means that the Mack men in the reckoning of ball players are only four games behind.

Cleveland won the opening game when Martin Aronson touched Freddy Hetmick for a home run in the tenth with Morgan on base. The Yanks came back to score one run in their half of the tenth, driving Hudlin from the box in favor of Bayne, but were unable in the end to match the Cleveland total after getting three out with only one out.

Henry Johnson gave Cleveland only six hits in the second game, and never was in any real danger. The Yankees pounded Uhle, Miljus and Underhill. Scores:

INTERNATIONAL YACHTS ARRIVE

Chesapeake Bay Challenger First One on Scene

Eastern Sloop Shows Speed in Trial Spins

Hawian Yacht Expected to Make Debut Soon

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Times Staff Correspondent

NEWPORT HARBOR YACHT CLUB, Aug. 19.—Making the long trip across the continent a few steps at a time, the Chesapeake Bay Yacht Club, Baltimore, Md., are the first on the scene of battle to challenge for the international starboard championship with the sloop Undine. The races will be sailed off Balboa the 31st inst. to September 5 with Walton Hubbard, Jr.'s Tem III defending the Gold Star trophy.

The eastern sloop and her crew arrived several days ago, but they were not immediately to acquaint themselves with local conditions. Sailing against Tom Webster's Tem III, the Undine showed to good advantage. The Johnsons are veteran racers on the Chesapeake Bay, and have sailed as well, both having raced to Bermuda.

Chesapeake Bay was represented last year by E. W. Smith's Mackerel, which finished the series in a triple tie with the Tem III and F. T. Bedford's Colleen of the Central Long Island Sound fleet with identical points. That would indicate that the Johnsons know their stuff.

HAWAIIANS' ARRIVAL

The second of the sixteen challengers to get in was E. Bogardus and R. Mc. B. Purvis of the Pearl Harbor Yacht Club, Honolulu, T. H. Bogardus is a former Hawaiian champion with the Hoku, which raced last year at Narangeth Bay and won the distant fleet trophy.

The main body of invading skippers and crews are expected to arrive on or about the 27th inst. Among the famous stars challenging are E. W. Smith's Mackerel, which finished the series in a triple tie with the Tem III and F. T. Bedford's Colleen of the Central Long Island Sound fleet with identical points. That would indicate that the Johnsons know their stuff.

SOUTHLAND CHAMPS

Without doubt the Pacific Coast will be fully prepared to send the invaders back home empty handed. Many Southern California yachtsmen believe that local conditions will be too much of a handicap to the visitors. The midwinter races, however, when the East came out here and cleaned up in the six-meter and R classes would seem to disprove that.

Joe Jessop's Windward of the San Diego Yacht Club, 1927 Pacific Coast champion, is being picked to give the Tem III a race for the trophy. Jessop has been cleaning up in Southern California since 1924, and just before Hubbard went east last year to win the international, Joe trimmed him at Santa Barbara in the Coast championship series.

Ray Schauer's Movie Star of the Los Angeles fleet gives the Southland another good bet, although Schauer's long lay-off from racing appears to have handicapped him somewhat. Other Coast defenders will be H. S. Deaton's Skipper of Santa Barbara Yacht Club and Clifford A. Smith's Frisco Star of the San Francisco Yacht Club.

COLORFUL RACES

The races should be colorful in the extreme, not only because many of the world's finest skippers and crews are entered, but because of the paint jobs and blue and white sails. Colors run from light blue to Nile green and black, with natural varnish and white also in favor.

PIRATE EVENS SERIES WITH FRIENDSHIP

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 19. (Exclusive)—In a steady fourteen-mile wind, Roger Marchetti's R sloop Friendship here this afternoon by 31.55, over a sixteen-mile course. The victory leaves the two boats tied in the first two of a series of three races to decide the overall champion for the San Francisco perpetual challenge cup. The Pirata was sailed by Matt Walsh and the Friendship by Ted Conant.

The third and deciding race of the series will be sailed Saturday in the forty-four-mile Nordlinger trophy race from the breakers to Bird Rock and return. The leading boat in that race will be considered winner of the series.

BONNIE LASS WINS AT ELSINORE

Bonnie Lass, owned by Jack Gibson of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and piloted by Johnnie Graham of Lake Elsinore and flying the colors of the Lake Elsinore Yacht Club, won first place in the semi-final championship race for the Master Trophy to be awarded for the championship of Lake Elsinore Class C outboard motor boat type regatta here yesterday.

Bonnie Lass also won first place in the five-mile unlimited race and first in the Class C two and one-half-mile race.

Miss Louetta Turnbull of Monrovia won first place in the Class B two and one-half-mile race among a large field of entries. Flying Scotchman won one of the five-mile races and H-2-O, owned by Tremore Club of Pasadena, won the Class B race.

These events were run under the rules of the American Power Boat Association and were in charge of O. K. Hunsaker of Hollywood.

Sacramento is Double Victor

Seattle noded the Seattle Coast League club out of a doubleheader today, 5 to 3, and 4 to 2.

The second game went eleven innings when Muller stole home in the ninth to tie the score for Seattle.

Fred Pippas, Indian moundsman, held the Solons to four scattered hits until the eighth inning of the opener, when they got to him for six hits and four runs to win the game. Art Koehler, subbing for Earl Shelly at first base was largely responsible for Seattle's scores when he booted the ball four times.

TEST PROVES SHIP QUEEN OF SEAS Aircraft Carrier Injects New Factor Into Naval Strategy

U.S.S. Lexington Makes History
Above: Eight-inch forward turrets of Navy's new aircraft carrier firing their guns in first battle practice off San Clemente Island. Below: Plane just after taking off from deck and others in distance after leaving carrier. Both are new Voigt Corsairs. AT SEA, ABOARD U.S.S. LEXINGTON, Aug. 19.—Proven queen of the seas in her initial battle test with the new eight-inch guns which the Navy has secretly perfected during the past four years, this great ship is today en route to her base. The new ordnance, performance of which the world's naval experts have awaited, was so successful that it has injected a new factor into the world's naval strategy. The Lexington's 33,000-ton bulk was rushing southward at thirty knots her gunners demolished within space of a few minutes the enemy, simulated by a tiny target hidden by the haze down on the western horizon. The fact that the target was almost invisible aboard ship was immaterial, for thousands of feet above the target there circled airplanes from which observers raided to the ship data on the fall-of-shot. These planes were the Navy's new Voigt "Corsairs," which only a few minutes before had taken off from her flying deck.

UNEQUALLED POWER
The success of the new eight-inch guns of the big carriers, unofficially credited with a range equal to the great turret guns of modern battleships, gives the Lexington and her sister ship, the Saratoga, a new factor in naval strategy. The planes give the carriers a new factor in naval strategy. The planes give the carriers a new factor in naval strategy. The planes give the carriers a new factor in naval strategy.

Talking Films Still to Have Silent Kisses

The scene which still contains for some, the greatest thrill in motion pictures—the kiss—will continue to be silent in spite of the coming of the sound and talking pictures.

San Wood, director of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is authority for the statement. The reverberating smack of the kiss can be picked up by the recording devices, but it sounds too canned, in Wood's opinion. It was tried on the public in a recent talking picture during an unusually dramatic scene—smack—and everybody in the audience laughed when they should have been in a serious frame of mind.

AT SEA, ABOARD U.S.S. LEXINGTON, Aug. 19.—Proven queen of the seas in her initial battle test with the new eight-inch guns which the Navy has secretly perfected during the past four years, this great ship is today en route to her base. The new ordnance, performance of which the world's naval experts have awaited, was so successful that it has injected a new factor into the world's naval strategy. The Lexington's 33,000-ton bulk was rushing southward at thirty knots her gunners demolished within space of a few minutes the enemy, simulated by a tiny target hidden by the haze down on the western horizon. The fact that the target was almost invisible aboard ship was immaterial, for thousands of feet above the target there circled airplanes from which observers raided to the ship data on the fall-of-shot. These planes were the Navy's new Voigt "Corsairs," which only a few minutes before had taken off from her flying deck.

UNEQUALLED POWER

The success of the new eight-inch guns of the big carriers, unofficially credited with a range equal to the great turret guns of modern battleships, gives the Lexington and her sister ship, the Saratoga, a new factor in naval strategy. The Lancer
by Harry Carr
THE newspapers have carried an interesting story about a Chicago society girl—a famous horsewoman—who joined a circus.
She got fired after a week because she couldn't manage the ring horses.

CIRCUS RIDING
It looks very easy to stand up on the haunches of a gray nag while he canter sedately around the sawdust; but many great athletes who have tried it, say it is difficult beyond description. It is more a knack than anything that can be figured out. Most ring riders come of circus families and start the work as children.

Miss Renee Adoree, the film star, tells me she can remember riding in a little French wagon circus when she was a tiny girl. She said she would be peeling potatoes for the family dinner, with a big apron over her tights; she would hear her cue from the band, run out to her horse, cavort around the ring with elegant gestures; then come back, put on her apron and go on with the spuds.

PREHISTORIC MAN
The Andrews expedition has made astonishing discoveries in the Gobi Desert—the huge father of all the prehistoric monsters, with a head weighing 400 pounds. In his passages to the United States, Mr. Andrews expresses confidence that he will—this time—find the remains of a man earlier than the Java man.

Should he be so fortunate as to find a fairly complete skeleton, it would be like the raising of a curtain on a vast lost drama. Most of what we know of prehistoric man consists of fragments. All they ever found of the Java man—who is supposed to have lived 500,000 years ago—were two teeth, the top of a skull and a thigh bone.

OUR EARLIEST ANCESTORS
The farther they go, the more fully archaeologists and anthropologists become convinced that the first Americans came from Asia—not on the bridge of land that once existed between Siberia and Alaska; but much later—making their way in boats or on ice floes across the narrow Behring Strait. Certain of the Indian tribes like the Hopis must have come at a comparatively recent date.

THE COYOTE WINS
For the first time in nearly ten years the howl of the coyote is to be heard in the hills back of our place in Tijuana. Almost every evening an old coyote comes to the top of the hills; makes some insulting remarks to the dogs and retires to his own meditation—and the chicken coops.

I thought this must be due to the unusually dry summer but I find that it is a general and surprising movement. In spite of the most remorseless warfare ever waged against any predatory animal, the coyote is getting the best of the fight.

He is not only increasing in numbers in the West where he belongs, but it is reported that he is beginning to turn up away back in the East in regions where they never have heard of him before.

A COLORFUL FELLOW
I can't help getting a thrill of satisfaction to know that the old scoundrel is getting the best of civilization. There is no other (Continued on Page 2, Column 6)

Will Morrissey and His Wife Jailed After Fight With Tom Mix

DRUNKENNESS LAID TO PAIR

Both Badly Battered After Scrap With Actor

Accounts Differ Greatly on Row and Its Cause

Western Player Declares He Had to Defend Self

Will Morrissey, actor-comedian and cabaret entertainer, is charged with drunkenness, his wife, Mildred Miller, with a like offense and both bear the marks of physical combat following an altercation with Tom Mix, western film actor, at the home of George Beban at Palisades Del Rey early yesterday morning.

Morrissey and his wife were released on bail yesterday, after they had failed in an attempt to prefer charges against Mix.

Two versions of the early morning affair were related.

BATTLE BEGINS
According to the story Morrissey and his wife told police the difficulty arose during a discussion of talking pictures. Morrissey declares that he asked Mix in a spirit of banter just what the western actor would do in the talking films.

"Of course," Morrissey commented, "Tony, your horse, will get by in the talking, but what are you going to do?" This was received coldly, Morrissey admitted. "He didn't understand my humor," the comedian explained.

When the guests were leaving the Beban residence, Morrissey says he bid Mix a cordial good night, and the only reply he received was a blow. Then Morrissey attempted to return the compliment, says he slipped on a rug, fell to the floor, where he was kicked in the head by Mix's high-heeled boots.

At this point, Mrs. Morrissey admits entering the fray. She attempted to assist her prostrate husband, she told police, and Mix struck her with his fist and she became unconscious. She displays a badly lacerated chest and a black eye, which she asserts resulted from the blow.

MIX'S VERSION
But the Mix version of the affair is somewhat different. The film actor admits being present at the Beban home; he talked with Morrissey, and there might have been something said about the talking films, but that didn't provoke the slight pummeling he gave Morrissey.

Telling of the affair yesterday, Mix explained his part thus: "I attended the housewarming and was awaiting the return of my car. Morrissey was rather intoxicated and had been making some remarks to various other guests, including myself, in his wisecracks, and once or twice I had spoken to him and asked him to let me alone."

"As I walked out of the house to walk down the steps to a sort of landing, Morrissey stepped out from behind and swung at me. He said something, but I paid no attention to it. His blow missed and I pushed him back, saying that I did not want any quarrel with him. I hurried down the steps and he started to get in my car. I heard Morrissey following me. He had his coat off and began calling me dirty names."

THEN HE HIT HIM
"I got out of the car and as he came at me I hit him two or three times. I am sorry I had to do it, but he became very insulting, and the names were the final touch. I do not know the man and this was the second time I ever met him. He never hit me with his swings."

As far as Mrs. Morrissey is concerned, Mix said that she entered the affair. In trying to explain her lacerated face and eye Mix says: "It is possible that she was hurt in a scuffle that took place after I pushed Morrissey away from coming out the door. There was some kind of a mix-up, they were attempting to quiet Morrissey and she might have been pushed over there. It was too far away for me to see."

Morrissey, accompanied by his wife, went to the Venice police station, and said they had been attacked. Both were badly cut, according to the police, and were given medical treatment. The Venice police, considering Morrissey unable to care for himself, then locked him up on the drunk charge and sent his wife to the County Jail for the night. Both were released yesterday on bail of $20 each.

ASSERTED OLD ERROR STARTS DAMAGE SUIT

Suit against I. A. Stub and the Globe Indemnity Company for $15,000 damages was filed in Federal court Saturday by C. Jensen, a Danish citizen, doing contracting business in Los Angeles. Jensen asserts that in July, 1924, 30,000 sacks of cement, supposedly shipped to him from Brussels, were delivered instead to Stub, without a bill of lading. Jensen gave no reason for delaying the damage suit four years.

powered vessels afloat, each having 180,000 horsepower, yet in her practice off San Clemente Island yesterday the Lexington was maneuvered with the ease of a yacht or destroyer. The sensation of being on the flight deck of one of these monsters, 880 feet long and with a beam of 106 feet, while she is steaming at thirty knots and watching her being maneuvered as though she were a racing motorboat, gives one a new idea of the Navy's efficiency.

Directing yesterday's practice was Rear-Admiral Albert W. Marshall, who put the Lexington into commission and is directly responsible for her success. He leaves San Pedro today for New York to become commander of the scouting fleet aircraft squadrons. His successor will be Capt. Frank D. Berrien.

SATISFACTORY SHOWING
Admiral Marshall declared himself thoroughly satisfied with this successful climax of his tour aboard the Lexington, and commended for their efforts the ship's executive officer, Commander "Whale" and Lieutenant-Commander Gillette, gunnery officer.

Admiral Marshall also is largely responsible for the present superiority of the Navy's air fleet, based on San Pedro, the present organization of which he laid the groundwork, while commander of the aircraft squadrons here in 1922. Both the Saratoga and Lexington are today and tomorrow scheduled to fire their first long-range battle practice—cumulative effort of their gunnery year—and on Wednesday the Lexington will sail for the Puget Sound Navy Yard for her annual overhaul, returning to San Pedro about November 20, next, for standardization trials. The Saratoga will first complete her gunnery schedule and sail for Puget Sound on September 19 for overhaul, returning to the home base in mid-December.

Small Homes Exposition to Open Today

Opening with a preview, the first annual small-homes exposition will get under way today at Leimert Park. The display was planned by the three gas companies of Southern California, Barker Brothers and manufacturers.

J. W. E. Service is in charge. Four furnished homes, one furnished apartment and six unfurnished dwellings will be on display for eight weeks and it is estimated that 250,000 will attend.

One of the primary purposes of the exposition is to introduce new ideas in home construction, furnishings and equipment. Mr. Service said, the houses being built especially for the affair. A feature will be the first public demonstration of gas refrigeration in this section.

SHUTTER SNAPS FOR 'TIMES' MAN

Litchfield, News Camera Pioneer, Succumbs

Found Lifeless in Darkroom by Fellow-Employee

Familiar Figure in Southland for Two Decades

In a "darkroom" of the Times where for seventeen years he has developed photographs of the momentous events in Southern California history, Frank M. Litchfield, pioneer news photographer of the Pacific Coast, dropped dead yesterday afternoon.

He was born in Lawrence, Kan., 58 years ago and lived at 1137 East Elk street, Glendale. He leaves his widow and his mother, Mrs. Matilda Fleming, of that address; two daughters, Mrs. Leslie S. Cole, 153 North Record street, and Mrs. Hollis Thompson of Oroville, a son, Loren B. Litchfield, who is in the Visuals office of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Until a few months ago Litchfield owned a ranch near Visalia, which was operated by his son-in-law, Hollis Thompson.

At the Times office, where he was in charge of the photographic bureau, yesterday morning he was working on a picture. Shortly after noon a fellow-worker entered his darkroom and found him dead, presumably the victim of a heart or acute-indigestion attack. The body was taken to the County Morgue temporarily, awaiting the issuance of a death certificate.

FAMILIAR FIGURE

Hundreds of thousands of people have seen the slight figure of "Litch" snapping photographs of public celebrities, dashing through fire lines, running along the sidelines at football games, and millions have studied reproductions of his photographs.

For the past two decades "Litch" attended every important news event in Southern California, from the visit of the late President Taft to a sensational police investigation. Detectives have learned to be grateful to "Litch" for the aid received from his photographs of the scene of a crime, and prosecutors have thanked him for pictures which went far toward clearing up uncertainties in the minds of jurors.

He was recognized as the preeminent sports photographer of the West. In the days when speed photography was being developed, Litch was in the forefront of the work. He took hundreds of arresting photographs of racing automobiles hurtling around sharp turns, swift backfield men dashing through broken fields to a touchdown, base-runners sliding to safety under the watchful eyes and sprinters sweeping down on the tape.

MAKER OF TINTYPES

Many years ago Litchfield traveled among the county fairs, operating a tintype concession. Last May when he was editor-in-chief of the Times he staged his circus. Litchfield, in the spirit of the occasion, set up his establishment and worked like a beaver for the day.

Coming to Southern California in 1907, Litchfield in Los Angeles. After working on several newspapers here he came to the Times in 1911, the second photographer of the paper. He has been closely identified with the life of the community and has constantly broadened the circle of his friends. His quiet, staunch character, his industry, his warm heart, endeared him to all who knew him.

HIT STREET CAR

Edward H. Hall, 37, of 8443 1/2 Blackhawk street, his wife, infant son and daughter received minor injuries when the car was struck by a street car at Sixth street and Westminster. They were treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon J. H. Hartsok.

Merle Hartsok, 23, of 1910 1-2 West Sixty-ninth street, suffered severe spine injuries yesterday when he attempted to prevent his ice cream truck from rolling down an incline at Twenty-first and Los Angeles streets, where he had parked the vehicle. The victim's body was crushed between the truck and a trailer. After first-aid treatment at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, he was removed to the Roosevelt Hospital.

METAL INDUSTRIES LEADERS WILL MEET

Hundreds of authorities in the metal industries, and twelve nationally known technical societies are co-operating in completing plans for the first Western Metal Congress, Western States Metal and Machinery Exposition and semiannual meeting of the American Society for Steel Treating, scheduled for the Shrine Auditorium from January 14 to 18, 1929. The local exposition will be similar to the one scheduled for Philadelphia, starting October 8, during national metal week. Latest equipment used in the metals industry will be shown.

MONEY FOR JAIL BIRDS

Young Mr. Kelley announces from jail where he is awaiting trial for murder that his rich friends are prepared to put up $50,000 cash bail.

Now this is a curious phase of the human mind. Ordinarily if you try to borrow $125 from a friend an attack of absent-mindedness comes upon him; but run for office or get into a murder trial and he will mortgage the old home in your behalf.

The explanation of it is plain. People get a sort of vicarious thrill from edging in on a big drama—be it ever so tawdry.

LAW STRETCHES OUT LONG ARM
Porto Rico Officer Gets His Man Here After Tracing Him Across Nation
The long arm of the law stretched from Porto Rico to Los Angeles yesterday to take into custody Pedro Gastell, 42 years of age, wanted in the West Indies on charges of forgery and embezzlement.
Gastell was arrested in a fashionable Los Angeles apartment-house by Deputy Sheriff King after he had been traced to New York City and on across the United States by W. R. Bennett, special agent of Gov. Towner of Porto Rico.
Bennett arrived in Los Angeles Saturday and will start his return trip to Porto Rico via New York City today with Gastell as his prisoner.

ton Sills, Joseph Scott, Dr. Rufus T. Kneeland, Rabbi Edgar Magnin, all of whom are patrons or members of the Bowl committee.
The Hollywood Bowl Association has no audience guarantors and every year is faced with the necessity of raising approximately $10,000 for the conduct of the concerts. It takes great courage to assume these obligations and responsibilities with no tangible assurance that the patrons will register at the Bowl their determination to purchase one $10 Bowl ticket book for a period of five years.
In announcing a return to the policy of presenting speakers from the platform, Mrs. Wood declared that in deference to those of the public who had objected to the talks, the present season has been carried on with omission of platform speakers with exception of three times for special events such as Spanish night.

MANY WANT TALKS
"While some of the patrons of the Bowl object to the injection of talks at the concerts it should be remembered," she said, "that there is fully as large a contingent of Bowl-goers who not only request the platform talks but who write incessantly to the office asking that the more intimate note struck in years past, when a speaker has kept audiences apprised of forthcoming events and the interesting working of the Bowl enterprise, be renewed."
"For six weeks we have kept our pledge with those who object to the talks and for the remaining two weeks we shall present the permanent patron plan through two-minute speakers."
The Bowl directors, headed by C. E. Townsend, have announced that since this tremendous spread of the finest music in the world is given to the great Southern California music-loving public at the lowest cost possible, in fact 25 cents a concert to those who purchase season ticket books, that the association feels it has the right to conduct its program in any manner that exigencies may demand.

COLLINS BOY FACING NEW QUIZ TODAY
Mother Will Return Lad to Juvenile Board for Inquiry Into Kidnaping
Walter Collins, 9-year-old boy who was the object of a country-wide search after he was kidnaped from his home here five months ago, spent yesterday in the custody of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Collins. Juvenile authorities released the boy to his mother's care on Saturday afternoon shortly after his arrival here from De Kalb, Ill., where he was discovered living on a farm. According to Capt. Jones of the Juvenile Bureau, Mrs. Collins will take her son to that bureau for further questioning this morning.
The child's physical condition was so changed from the time his mother saw him previous to the kidnaping that she had difficulty in recognizing her child. It is expected that a complete rest in home environment will bring about a change both physical and mental, in the boy's health and will make him more amenable to questioning.
According to Capt. Jones, a more complete description of the man who took the boy away from his home and left him on the Illinois farm can be obtained after a reasonable period of recuperation.

Today's Bible Text
 A man that hath friends must show himself friendly: and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.

THE OLD TEAM
 In the Democratic harmony number the words are by Al Smith, but the music is by Jimmy Walker.

NOT TAKING ANYTHING
 Some folks are so rigid in their morals that they won't even take another man's advice.

PLAINNESS REMOVED
 The Tammany idea to help the plain people is to send them to a beauty shop.

NOISE OF CARNAGE
 There must be sporting blood in the veins of the matron who started the vacuum cleaner against the radio and let them fight it out.

NOT WANTED
 The luxury of the luxury taxes seems not to be thoroughly appreciated by those who enjoy the luxury of paying them.

THE GRASSHOPPERS
 It is a fine thing that Russian princesses were taught to dance well when they were kids. It would seem that most of them have to dance for a living nowadays.

CURRENT EVENTS
 That news is news was emphasized by the column story from North Wisconsin about the mischievous pup who gnawed up one of Mrs. Coolidge's slippers. Where were the cameramen while all this history was being made?

DISSOLUTION AT HAND
 Messages from Belgrade say that they are trying to destroy the Skupstina. It would seem that plenty of hot water might dissolve the Skupstina or anything else. By the way, it is mentioned that the Skupstina is the Jug-Slavia Parliament. That should make the hot-water treatment effective. The Skupstina isn't even something that can be played on—except with a hose.

THE BUTTERFLY
 Now it is said that the name of James Joseph Tunney had been entered in New York's social register—which is the blue ribbon of the Knickerbocker elect. If Tunney's name is once entered it is not likely that anyone will have the hardihood to attempt its erasure. For that matter the 400 has finally found a champion who could dare to carry their colors into the Bowery.

PRACTICAL PURPOSES
 Members of the government's fact-finding commission on the Colorado River indicate that the location and character of the public work on that turbulent stream will depend almost entirely upon the geology, the geography and the natural conditions. Politics will have nothing to do with it. This will be quite a shock to the politicians, who only knew that geology was something they made grindstones of.

NOTHING DOING
 Investigators in Chicago report that in the last two years more than 60,000 complaints concerning crimes have been turned in to the police department in which no record was kept or any action undertaken. If a man gets sandbagged or bunked there he may as well take his grievance out into the midst of Lake Michigan and whisper it to the west wind. No use trying to ring up Bill Thompson.

NOT DISTURBED
 The Hollywood correspondent for a New York dramatic page intimates that while the movies are being turned into talkies big production will return to New York. Gotham will be the center and circumference of the film industry. The bottom will drop out of Hollywood. All of which is piffle of the woziest pattern. The film folk are too deeply anchored here by their investments and production conditions to be even swayed, much less loosened from their moorings. As long as there are motion pictures—of any sort, they will be made in Southern California.

SENATOR CURTIS ACCEPTS
 The ringing declarations in favor of prohibition of Senator Curtis, Republican nominee for the Vice-Presidency, in his acceptance speech, following the utterances of Hoover a week earlier on the same subject, place both the Republican and national candidates squarely on record in full acceptance of the platform declarations of their party.

The contrast between Republican harmony on this subject and Democratic discord is a striking one, since the Democratic platform has already been repudiated by the Presidential candidate of that party.

Curtis gave the Smith nullification scheme one of the hardest blows it has yet received when he declared:

The Prohibition Amendment ultimately was adopted by all of the States except Connecticut and Rhode Island. Through this voluntary action which binds all the States delegated to the Federal government their full original power and responsibility on the liquor prohibition question. The Federal government accepted the power and responsibility so delegated, thereby binding itself, and accordingly, Congress passed the Volstead Act. For the Federal government now to adopt, or even to propose or to favor, a policy which will result in allowing each State to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold and transported throughout the country, would be a direct and indefensible attempt on its part to evade or to repudiate the responsibility so delegated and assumed, and an endeavor to redelegate that responsibility to the several States from whence it came, without any justification for such action.

I believe in meeting an issue squarely, therefore, I state that not only am I heartily in favor of prohibition, but I am in favor of its enforcement. I am opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act.

Curtis also went on record in favor of farm relief legislation, simplification of the government organization in the interest of efficiency and economy, better tariff protection for such industries as need it, reduction of taxation and of the public debt, and other planks of the Republican platform. His plan for farm relief legislation is to obtain the appointment of a small joint committee of Senate and House, organized on a non-partisan basis, to draft a bill or bills which will meet the situation. He pointed out, as did Hoover, that tariff protection and development of inland waterways both are necessary parts of any program for agricultural improvement.

"You have notified me," said the nominee in his conclusion, "that the man who has been nominated to the high office of President of the United States, who in a few short months is to lead our party to renewed victory, and our country to continued happiness and prosperity, is Herbert C. Hoover. He is well worthy of the party's choice; a credit to it and to the nation, both in the eyes of our people and of the world. His extensive knowledge, training and experience well fit him to guide the country wisely and justly to new heights of renown."

The policies of Calvin Coolidge are those of our party and are expressed in our platform. They are Mr. Hoover's and they are mine. They are those of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. Their wisdom and beneficent effect on the lives of our 118,000,000 people have been demonstrated during the years, particularly these last years, in Mr. Coolidge's administration, and will continue to be demonstrated for years to come. We can well be proud of our record of sound and constructive leadership.

The address of Senator Curtis will commend itself to the American people as a demonstration that in him the Republican party has picked a worthy running mate for Hoover.

CITY BOYS AS FARMERS
 An interesting human experiment undertaken by co-operative farmers in Ohio demonstrated that boys brought up in the cities may make the best farmers and gardeners. The Ohio Farms Company has more than 2000 acres under cultivation and control and much of this acreage is in garden stuff for the cities. Modern equipment and methods are used and the tracts are farmed on an efficiency basis. There was the problem of labor, however, and this called for patient attention.

In dealing with this question the managers finally sent to the streets of Chicago and New York and picked up a score or more of newboys and alley lads—few of whom had ever seen a farm, even from a car window. The boys were obtained through the police departments of the cities and would hardly be considered as promising material. Yet the results were surprising. The lads were "awful dumb" to start with, but their sharpened wits and natural curiosity soon corrected this and in a few weeks they took up their varied tasks as readily and efficiently as if they had been born to just such experiences. Most of the boys appear to have found an interest in their work and they are developing their minds and bodies in a wholesome environment.

As fast as the country boys move to the city it would be well for the city boys to even the score. It might help both. Some of these street gamins who were started on $30 a month and board are now making from $60 to $75 a month with their keep. They have night school and are learning scientific farming. Some of them already seem destined to be superintendents and managers and the company now indicates a purpose to recruit most of its help after this fashion.

As we get around to efficiency farming and co-operative marketing the city boys will be found in the front row. The real problem of the farmer is to keep up with the parade. He does too many things the way his great grandfather did. And yet he has a radio in his home and a car in his garage.

WAY OF WISDOM
 Reported discovery by archeologists of the stables of King Solomon prompts a juvenile critic to declare that Solomon couldn't have been as wise as they made out else he would have built a garage instead of a barn.

LEE SIDE O' LA

by Lee Shippey

W E ANGELOS, Hollywood and all, are serious-minded people. All our life we have heard of "light summer reading." The book and magazine editors all seem to think that in summer only the frothy and frivolous can appeal to the public. So yesterday we visited booksellers and the Public Library to find out what flimsy stuff was most in demand.

The answer was: Books on psychology and philosophy.

Not Hard Pressed Parents
 Heretofore, autumn has been the time when people took a spurt toward earnest feeding. The return to school of the youngsters then filled many of us with secret alarm, realization that if we didn't look out the boys and girls soon would be exposing our ignorance. Fear-inspired, we lugged home imposing tomes from the library and opened them with a purposeful air every time we thought the family was looking. But summer, we considered the silly season, when even parents could afford to be natural.

Oh, Jazz, Where Is Thy Victory?
 This summer the spurt of serious reading, as gauged by the library, began in June, and all this summer twice as many people as heretofore have been enrolling for complete courses of reading such as are outlined by the reader's adviser.

And in spite of the inescapable jazz, next to psychology and philosophy, the study course most popular is in appreciation of music.

GREATER MOVIE SEASON
 Vacation times being slack times for amusement caterers in large cities, the summer months offer extra inducements to professional entertainers to provide unusual attractions. August finds many families away on vacations while for young and old the golden sands of the seashore provide counter attractions to the silver screens of metropolitan theaters.

In response to this spur Los Angeles motion-picture houses have established a Greater Movie Season during the summer holidays and made it officially an occasion for introducing to the public bigger and better pictures as a forerunner of what the fans may expect in the way of changes and improvements for the coming year. The present week has been designated by the central committee for the opening of this new annual feature and in spite of the summer hegra to mountains and beaches, it will no doubt, as it has done in the past, attract large and enthusiastic audiences.

One of the special inducements, certain to be appreciated by motion-picture fans, will consist of the presence in person of special performances of the leading actors and actresses appearing in the various pictures. This personal contact with their favorite stars is always appreciated both by the artists who thus are able to meet their audiences and by the audiences given an opportunity to meet the stars. At the opening of Greater Movie Season Hollywood makes this appropriate bow to the people of the city most closely connected with the present and the future of this big world industry.

Greater Movie Season, as carried out in its numerous details, could not be staged in another city as it is being staged in Los Angeles, the home of the cinema, the center of picture production. The people to whom the Hollywood studio is an advertisement all the world over can be counted upon to show their appreciation of this special effort made by the producers for the benefit of Los Angeles theatergoers.

GNOW BONE RESTORED
 Honest, homespun traditions are conserved by the people of Westpoint, Ind., by their action in voting to restore to their town its original name of Gnow Bone. There is nothing highfalutin about that good old name. It suited the ideas of the founders of the town, and it suits those of their appreciative survivors, who never have fancied Westpoint, as it savored of metropolitan pretension. Besides that, the people for miles around have insisted upon using the old name in referring to the place. Then, too, Gnow Bone is distinctive, while Westpoint is not, there being sixteen postoffices of that name in the country.

Somehow, one rejoices in the piquancy and originality of Gnow Bone. True, it isn't a mouth-filling name, but it compares well with Mauch Chunk, which you couldn't hire Pennsylvanians to change any quicker than you could bribe the people of Hicksville, N. Y., to alter the name of their town. Hicksville highbrows tried recently to put over an alteration to something less rurally suggestive, but nearly all the rest of the 3000 people of the place rose in protest, and Hicksville it stands. Medicine Hat came near losing its picturesque appellation a few years ago, but happily retained it.

In a starab world like this, dotted over with prosaic geographical nomenclature, it is foolish to forego the delight that Gnow Bone, Mauch Chunk and Medicine Hat give to souls weary of bromidic town titles. Gnow Bone is good. It is refreshing. But Westpoint is tiresome in its unsuggestive prosaicism.

FORZLY'S FORTUNES
 He was a gambler. He had been rich and he had been poor: he knew all the vicissitudes of fortune. He is said to have won a million and a half in one season and lost it the next. He had a system that he had reduced to a science. Following the horses, he carried a staff of experts to furnish him inside information. He had lines on all the horses and trainers as well. Jockeys were card-indexed. He mulled over his information by night and played the races by day.

Once when his fortune was swept away by a bad bet, the banks trusted him with a loan of $100,000 to recoup his losses. And yet when he died a few days ago in New York, his fortune was a gamble with the public. Nobody knew whether he was millionaire or pauper. The chances are he will be found to have been bankrupt.

His name was Nicholas Forzly. A brain like his could have functioned along legitimate lines and he could have ranked with the great in industry. However, he followed the treacherous heels of horses and knew the fickleness of fortune. A parasite, never having produced anything in the world, he worked harder to keep from working than labor to make an honest living. Using his wits to outwit the witless, he sometimes fattened upon the unsuspecting. Sometimes the vagaries of chance, or other sharper of his profession mulcted him.

To him life was nothing more than a game of chance. His money was always slippery. Making it easily when he did make it, it slipped through his fingers as readily. Luck was his god. "Come seven" was his ritual. His hectic life is but a marker for charting the sea of fortune against hidden shoals. He might have been an inspiration, and he died a lesson.

FLYING SOUTH
 According to the best information Capt. Byrd's approaching sortie against the South Pole will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. The budget already exceeds $800,000, with other possibilities awaiting. The expenditure should at least assure the safety of the party and provide for its return. That would be worth a lot.

THE NEW SIBERIA
 Americans are building a big steel mill in Siberia for the soviet government, but their interest will cease when the plant is completed—and the bill paid. There are iron and coal in the Tomsk district and the wish is to expand industry. The more time Russians give to industry the less they will have to play with fireworks.

BE NOT AFRAID

BY BAILEY MILLARD

I am much impressed by the recent findings of eminent scientists as to the comparatively innocuous character of the so-called poison of certain reptiles and insects. It would seem from these findings that people bitten by tarantulas, rattlesnakes and other "poisonous" creatures have been scaring themselves to death rather than dying from the effects of their stings and bites.

An Arkansas pundit says that fear of spiders, tarantulas and such varmints is "largely a mental illusion" while a Brooklyn scientist declares that the whisky used to counteract snake bites is more deadly than the bite and should not be drunk in any such case.

There is nothing very new in the idea that the mental poison of fear is often more potent than the thing feared. One recalls the old story of the Caliph who when told that a thousand people had perished in the plague in Bagdad, said, "Yes, a thousand have died—900 of them of fear."

Yet all these years the race has permitted itself to be terrified by epidemics and sporadic maladies, and it continues to do so, often without dreaming that the terror thus inspired is likely to be attended with more serious consequences than infection, even where the disease has attacked the victim. Extreme fear paralyzes the system, robs the body of its nervous stamina and resistance. It makes victims of those who because of their natural physical strength had the best chances of escape had they not given up to alarm.

Recent psychology bears out the postulation that fear is one of the worst of maladies—that it is a condition to be closely analyzed and where possible controlled. It operates in various other malign ways. When an army is thrown into a panic it cannot prevail in battle even against a smaller body of troops. Crowds warned his soldiers to "fear nothing but fear."

Under normal conditions a bank may be ever so sound, and yet if its depositors became apprehensive as to its solvency it may be crippled or even ruined by the precipitation of a perfectly unwarrantable run upon it.

Fear is no part of real caution or common sense. If we could banish fear of evil, bribery, and that there would be less evil? Evil for the most part is a bug-aboo, anyway. From time immemorial there have been schools of philosophy that have denied there was such a thing. Emerson declared that "evil, like cold or darkness, is not positive, but privative, therefore, nonexistent." If we could accept this statement in its fullest sense all fear, including worry and anxiety, would be banished from our lives.

ALL THE WORLD OVER

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

A 13-year-old boy who saw the Pacific Southwest Exposition for the first time yesterday came home and told his mother he had had a trip around the world. Everyone had seen the wonderful animal skins in the various South American buildings, but he came back with the story of how the llama lives in Ecuador, and how the Ecuadorean make saddles to represent the crocodile. He also found out about the alpacas and vicuñas from Bolivia and for what their skins are used.

Taking this same eager interest in the foreign build, the Guatemalans told the story of their bird of freedom, the Quetzal with its song of liberty, on exhibit in their picturesque pyramid. He explained the habits of their lion-faced goldfish, on display in glass tanks; a Chinese princess, who is authority on Chinese classics, took the pains to decipher old inscriptions on crumbling parchments and recount fantastic legends of the Celestial Empire.

A miniature panorama of Imperial Valley, showing fields of growing cantaloupes, ranch houses, irrigation measures, and a stretch of desert before cultivated fields, all of the children, as much as it does the rancher or realtor, studying agricultural conditions.

The extensive and elaborate display which demonstrates the entire evolutionary process and utilization of electricity, with the miniature flumes, transmitters and conductors, the mountains with their water power, and the city with its lighted buildings, fascinates all of the children.

The forestry booth with the trout stream, live deer and quail; and the many playground booths which show in miniature the various sports, with tiny swimming pools, tennis grounds and baseball diamonds are also of special interest to both child and adult.

GIGANTIC BIRD SANCTUARY

A direct result of the recent congress for the protection of birds held at Geneva is the project to have the French government declare for a bird sanctuary in the Camargue, where more than 20,000 acres of land in the delta of the Rhone will become immune to all intrusions from hunters, sportsmen and naturalists.

This part of France is already the permanent and migratory resort of innumerable birds; it has long been a favorite of wild birds from Africa to their breeding places in the north. The scheme will aim at creating a "paradise" principally for the birds of the marshes, represented by hundreds of varieties, and at saving migratory visitants from destruction before their departure for warmer climes.

The land in which it is intended to make this bird sanctuary belongs to industrial company, and an arrangement between the company and the government is being arrived at by which the latter will assume the care of the property.

HOOVER IN FRANCE

BY EVELYN McDOWELL

Herbert Hoover made many friends in Europe, especially during his administration of the Commission for Relief in Belgium. Of course this fact is already well known, but it has been brought to the fore again here in Paris since his nomination for the Presidency.

A Frenchman who had charge of the distribution of food and clothing in the occupied regions of the north of France during the war, and who, therefore, came into close contact with Mr. Hoover, recently told Le Matin some of his experiences. He designated Hoover as "the only great American citizen, but a great citizen of humanity."

"Never for an instant did the spirit of human solidarity and the disinterestedness which impelled the noble citizens of America grouped about Mr. Hoover in the Commission for Relief in Belgium, give all their time, to neglect their own affairs in order to devote themselves to ours without receiving the slightest recompense—never did these noble citizens, he said, Mr. Hoover did not neglect any means of easing the suffering and misery in any of the hospitals of the invaded region."

Under the traditional American phlegmatic appearance Mr. Hoover hides an extremely sensitive heart. Very self-contained, he seemed during those days of misfortune to divine the needs and anticipate the questions of his collaborators, according to Mr. Labbe.

When he was about to return to America in 1919, Mr. Hoover came to see Mr. Labbe, who told the story to the Matin and who had been put in charge of reconstruction in the north of France as chief engineer. Hoover came to say good-by; and he said it simply, bravely, and gently, in accordance with his personality. Before entering his car to leave, he handed Mr. Labbe a sheet of paper, saying merely, "For our work, paper was a check for $5,000,000 francs."

If he doesn't talk much, the Republican Presidential candidate knows how to see and observe. Mr. Labbe cited some incidents to illustrate this fact. During the occupation he wrote Mr. Hoover for an increase of their food allotment in order to relieve distress. A few days later the commission came to investigate the situation, accompanied, of course, by German officers. Hoover asked Mr. Labbe to tell him just what the situation was. After the recital, a German officer interposed: "But we have crossed the whole city. The people are gray. No one seems to be suffering."

"What does that prove?" He has nothing. Our shops are all closed. Our shops are all closed in excellent French, "we have seen some that were open." "Those were German shops. We can't go there," said Mr. Hoover. And he found that it was as the Frenchman had said. The German officer then stated that most of the provisions were sold in the big market.

"That is closed, too," replied Mr. Labbe. "But they're open in the morning," insisted the officer. Mr. Hoover did not say anything when they visited the market, but he quietly went to a finger over the top, and held it up all gray with dust. "Autos for Brussels," was all he said. But increased supplies were sent to Mr. Labbe.

THE AGE LIMIT

Celebrating his sixty-fifth birthday, Henry Ford declared that men over 50 run the world and that without their experience and judgment the youngsters would be lost. He said he has set the figure high—60. With the average longevity of mankind increasing by leaps and bounds until we still consider a man at the height of his powers at three score years and ten, it is inevitable that those who another generation might have considered "old men" should still be at the head of affairs.

It is only necessary to glance at such a list as that contained in the World Almanac to realize that men over 70, let alone 80 or 65, are still holding important posts in public life and business. And the revelation of the ages of some of these men is startling, to say the least.

Among those in the 80's are John D. Rockefeller, George F. Baker, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Capt. Robert Dollar, Robert La Follette, Charles P. Taft, Thomas A. Edison, President Von Hindenburg, Elihu Root, Prince Saloni and Clemenceau.

There are countless familiar figures in the 70's, such as President Masaryk, William M. S. and Lord Thomas Lipton, Marshall Joffe, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Haley Pike, Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, George Eastman, Charles F. Thompson, John Philip Sousa, Secretary Mellon, Ambassador Herrick, George Bernard Shaw, Sigmund Freud, William T. Hornaday, Wm. B. E. and Lord Secretary Kellogg and Justice Brandeis.

Some few of these men may have retired; many more are still active. No one can say that their influence is not important and that young men between 50 and 70 do not in many cases still rely on their experience and judgment. Mr. Ford is even younger than he thinks he is.

HIGHER CRITIC AT CHRISTI

Who Scoff at Old and He Predicts

Criticizing those "higher critics" who are deemed to be superseded by a sermon on "The Progress of Christianity," Dr. John M. Baxter, pastor of the First Baptist Church, declared that the world through the power of Christ moves noiselessly.

As you climb higher, the more you realize that the world is not a noisy place. Men have no time to be noisy. They are too busy with their own lives. The world is a noisy place. Men have no time to be noisy. They are too busy with their own lives. The world is a noisy place. Men have no time to be noisy. They are too busy with their own lives.

CRUISE SOUTH STIRS INTEREST

Foreign Officials Keep Eye on Los Angeles Trip

Two More Ports Added to Itinerary of Journey

October Event Proves to be Popular With Public

Strong interest is being shown on the part of the government officials of South and Central American countries in the cruise of the Lasso flag ship City of Los Angeles which will leave Los Angeles on a sixty-four-day cruise around South and Central America. The original plan for the tour called for stops at eleven ports in ten different countries.

MANY REQUESTS
The announcement of this plan, however, brought to the steamship company, Crowder said, so many requests for the inclusion of other ports in the itinerary that a change has been made to include a stop of seventeen hours at Santos, Brazil, from which approximately four-fifths of the world's supply of coffee is shipped. From Santos a side trip is to be arranged to Sao Paulo.

Another stop, in addition to those previously designated, will be at La Guayra, the port city of Venezuela, whence tour members will go by rail or motor car twenty-three miles to Caracas, the capital. The addition of the two ports of call will not lengthen the total time occupied by the cruise, nor increase the cost of the excursion, according to Crowder.

RECEPTIONS PLANNED

Of particular interest to those contemplating making the sixty-four-day tour is the fact that most of the countries to be visited have waived many of the usual formalities in admitting visitors from other nations, and Crowder said, official receptions are being planned at the entrance of all of the larger centers on the itinerary.

Prompt action on the part of persons desiring to make the cruise is necessary in order that they may have time to obtain passports and visas, Crowder said.

MARRIAGE OCCURS AS SURPRISE EVENT

Banker and Aide Secretly Wed in Santa Barbara

A banker's training in keeping a secret served Herbert H. Smock, vice-president and cashier of the Security Bank and Savings Bank, and Miss Eva M. Swalley, departures n. a. l. executive of the same bank, in good stead over the week-end.

When Mr. Smock bade his associate good-bye Saturday noon and said he was off for a vacation in the Northwest, and Miss Swalley said good-bye to the same hour to the twenty or more young women who serve under her and declared she was off for her annual outing, no one suspected that the two would meet a little later, motor to Santa Barbara and be married before sundown. But such was the case.

Announcement of the marriage Saturday afternoon came late evening from Mrs. Martha E. Swalley of 1833 Sixth avenue, mother of the bride.

The bridegroom is the administrative head of the Security Bank and its branches, and the former president of the bank. Miss Swalley has served for several years as one of his subordinates. No one at the bank has suspected any sentiment between the chief and his departmental head beyond congeniality and a mutual admiration for each other's administrative ability.

The bride is a graduate of Northwestern University and a member of Chi Omega Sorority. She is a native of Aurora, Ill., and came to California shortly after the completion of her college course.

Mr. Smock is a director as well as vice-president and cashier of the Security Bank and also is a loaning officer of that institution. He has been with it ever since he came to California in 1911 from Oklahoma, where he was State Superintendent of Banks. At the recent Pasadena convention of the California Bankers' Association, he was elected a member of the executive council of the association. He is a charter member and former president of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the Scottish Pine Masons and Shrine. He is a native of Indianapolis.

Pasadena Man Meets Death on Coast Highway

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 19. (Exclusive)—Paul F. Austin, 24 years of age, who resided at 825 East Walnut street, Pasadena, was instantly killed tonight when his touring car failed to make a sharp curve on the Nojima grade on the Coast Highway, thirty miles north of here.

A Milton Cherrin, 21 years of age, who is a student at the University of California, and Daniel Abramowitz, 1902 Cahuenga Boulevard, Los Angeles, who were riding with Austin, told police here that the car was traveling about sixty miles an hour and went off the highway, turned over three times, before coming to a stop in a deep ditch. Austin's head was badly crushed, but neither of his passengers, who he picked up on the highway, were injured. Austin was en route to San Francisco.

FOREIGN NATIONS HONORED

International Day Program Draws Large Attendance at Long Beach Exposition

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Aug. 19.—France, Belgium, Switzerland and Sweden, romantic countries of the Old World, joined forces at the Pacific Southwest Exposition today in making it one of the most delightful and entertaining, in many respects, of all the days of the great fair's history. All attendance records gave promise this afternoon of being beaten when, at 3 o'clock, more people had passed through the turnstiles than had entered the grounds up to the same hour last Sunday, the record day of the fair.

A program with an international aspect was given natives of the four countries to whom the day was devoted. In the grand court between the Pool of Reflections and the Street of Nations a huge marquee was erected and around this there were beautiful French, Belgian, Swedish and Swiss garb, in the habiliments of their respective lands, who handed out flowers.

As a part of the day's band concert, the national anthems of the four countries were played under the direction of Herbert L. Clark, leader of the Long Beach municipal band. Lending an interesting touch to the day was the presence of several motion-picture stars of the French descent.

Henry Didot, French Consul at Los Angeles, assisted by Mme. Didot, presided at a reception in the French building on the Street of Nations at 2 o'clock. A French-Belgian program was given from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock at the Little Theater by well-known artists.

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM
From 4 to 5 o'clock a Swedish program was given in the huge sports stadium with a Swedish glee club of five voices, a series of Swedish dances by seventy-five children and a Swedish quartet as the features.

An international program, directed by Henry Didot, Charles Wenzel, William A. Monton and Otto Wenzel, was given at Los Angeles for France, Belgium, Sweden and Switzerland, respectively, was given in the great outdoor theater immediately following the closing numbers of the great stunts given by the Los Angeles Magicians' Society, and a musical given by Los Angeles Italians in the Italy building on the Street of Nations.

Today was also Downey day and residents of that community arrived early to watch the parade, which was held in the main band stand. Attendance figures were swelled by the presence of employees of the Owl Drug Company from all over the Southland, and by members of the California Grocers' Association.

CLEARING OF NAMES ASKED

Three Boys File Complaint With Police Commission Reciting Assertedly Unwarranted Arrest

Request that the Police Commission take steps to clear their names from police records on suspicion of robbery have been made to the department by Jean Hardesty, 17 years of age; Byron Stegner, 18, and Gerold Dunn, 17, all of Highland Park.

The trio, in a complaint filed with the commission, declare that on July 10, on the way home from a Knights of Pythias dance at Garvanza, they were stopped at Pasadena avenue and Avenue 58 by Officers Schumaker and Parsons and despite their protests were jailed.

They state they had an old Colt pistol hanging inside the windshield. The pistol, they said, had been used as part of their stage props the previous evening in rehearsal of a play to be given for the benefit of the American Legion.

The complaints state that Dunn's mother lives at 5409 Pasadena avenue, four blocks away from where they were arrested, but that the of-

CRAWFORD FOES LAUNCH ATTACK

Southland Defender Faces Northern Opposition

Pamphlets Flood District of Assemblyman

Stand Against Machine Made Excuse for Battle

Indications that a concerted effort to defeat Assemblyman Crawford for the Republican nomination in the coming primaries is being engineered from the northern part of the State, where it is felt that his loyalty to Southern California is inimical to certain Northern California political interests, was seen yesterday when his district was flooded with political pamphlets urging his defeat.

Assemblyman Crawford, who assumes the attitude that the effort should seek the man, was one of the sturdiest defenders in the last Legislature of what he deems the best interests of Southern California. He was one of the staunch few of the Assembly who voted against the Young administration repeal of the 7 per cent assessment law on intangible securities.

When Los Angeles was being attacked by a clique from northern rural counties, Crawford was replaced by a fighting spirit and in a short succinct speech he obstructed their plan and forced them to retire. He said:

"We have stood here day after day listening to the insults, spite and ridicule heaped on us by the north. Like gentlemen, we have endured it with a smile. We have voted with you, helped you, only to be subjected to scorn and malice. If you people ever realize how unfair you have been Los Angeles will receive its proper recognition. You will regret this outpouring of denunciation."

Come to Los Angeles. See what a wonderful county it is, then perhaps you will get this bitterness out of you. "I've been opposed to State division, but the slurs and criticism you continually hurl at us has made me believe that, after all, division is needed for both of us. Why can't we go on like brothers? But you offer a measure which will shame us before the whole land."

Action Against Mae Murray Set for Today

How Mrs. Sylvia Ulback, masseuse and beauty specialist, kept Mae Murray, film actress, lipte and beautiful while the latter was on a recent vaudeville tour, will be recited today when her suit for $1215 for asserted back pay is called for trial before Superior Judge Hanby.

Mrs. Ulback, who looks after the beauty of a score or more screen stars in Hollywood, in her complaint asserts that she entered into a six-months' contract with Miss Murray on September 2, 1927, to keep her in condition for her three and four appearances each day while on the vaudeville stage. She asserts she left a large practice in Hollywood to accompany the actress on the tour.

Upon returning to Los Angeles late in February, last, Mrs. Ulback said that Miss Murray suggested that she "take a rest" and then broke her contract which had more than two months to run. She asserted that she was owed $1215, a large amount of back salary was due her at the time.

In her answer to the accusations made by the specialist, Miss Murray declares that Mrs. Ulback had voluntarily broken the contract because she was "utterly" worn out and exhausted from the trip she had made.

STORM NEWS TO BE BROADCAST

Center of Hurricane Belt Will Have Station

Chain Hook-up to Feature Program Details

Foreign Radio Transmitters Increase in Number

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER
Radio will give advance notice of hurricanes in the Southeast. Swan Island, a tiny green speck in the blue of the Caribbean Sea, famed in pirate lore as the burial place of treasure chests, will be the location from which warnings of impending hurricanes will be flashed.

Three years ago the Tropical Radio Company had a station on the island, but soon discontinued service. Now, at the request of the Weather Bureau, they are to reopen. A. L. Meggers, wireless man and trained weather observer, will be in charge. From now until November, twice daily, he will transmit regular reports as well as special information on the inception and location of storms.

Swan Island is northeast of Honduras and south of Cuba, near the heart of the hurricane-belt. It is directly in the path of many of the big disturbances that lash the Antilles and sometimes sweep on to the Gulf States. Meggers and a mechanic will be the only white people on the island. The island, a mile long and half a mile wide, has a permanent population of three West Indian negroes who gather coconuts for a fruit company.

KHJ ON CHAIN

Between 8 and 10 p.m. today the temporary Don Lee chain, which was on the air last Friday night, will be broadcast from the San Francisco station.

The three stations will include the two Don Lee sets, KFRG, San Francisco, and KHJ, Los Angeles, while the other two stations will be KMLJ, of Fresno.

Woman Styling Herself Actress Given Treatment for Asserted Poisoning

A suicide attempt was made by Violet Simms, who told police at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital she is a stage and screen actress, at the height of an asserted drinking party at her home, 832 Carondelet street, late last night, according to a police report.

Detective Lieutenants Ellis and Hurst, investigating officers, reported that the woman swallowed poison shortly after they had warned the participants of the party to quit down.

Simms, who lived in the first call and the officers had returned to the station when a call came from the Simms home asking for an ambulance.

Simms' condition is not considered serious at the hospital. She was removed to the psychiatric ward of the General Hospital for observation. She is 23 years of age and said her husband is a contractor, now traveling in Texas.

Fifty years of wedded life for Mr. and Mrs. Silvert Nordskog, 3683 Third avenue, was celebrated yesterday at the Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Fourteenth and Oak streets.

The affair was attended by about 300 guests and started with a dinner at the church at 1 p.m., followed at 3 p.m. with a golden-wedding ceremony in the main auditorium, with Rev. B. Hoff, pastor of the church, officiating, and concluded at 8 p.m. with a musical program.

Seven children of the couple with their families were present, as were Mr. and Mrs. B. Ryerson of New York. STORM NEWS TO BE BROADCAST

Center of Hurricane Belt Will Have Station

Chain Hook-up to Feature Program Details

Foreign Radio Transmitters Increase in Number

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER
Radio will give advance notice of hurricanes in the Southeast. Swan Island, a tiny green speck in the blue of the Caribbean Sea, famed in pirate lore as the burial place of treasure chests, will be the location from which warnings of impending hurricanes will be flashed.

Three years ago the Tropical Radio Company had a station on the island, but soon discontinued service. Now, at the request of the Weather Bureau, they are to reopen. A. L. Meggers, wireless man and trained weather observer, will be in charge. From now until November, twice daily, he will transmit regular reports as well as special information on the inception and location of storms.

Swan Island is northeast of Honduras and south of Cuba, near the heart of the hurricane-belt. It is directly in the path of many of the big disturbances that lash the Antilles and sometimes sweep on to the Gulf States. Meggers and a mechanic will be the only white people on the island. The island, a mile long and half a mile wide, has a permanent population of three West Indian negroes who gather coconuts for a fruit company.

KHJ ON CHAIN

Between 8 and 10 p.m. today the temporary Don Lee chain, which was on the air last Friday night, will be broadcast from the San Francisco station.

The three stations will include the two Don Lee sets, KFRG, San Francisco, and KHJ, Los Angeles, while the other two stations will be KMLJ, of Fresno.

The first hour will originate in Los Angeles, while the rest of the program will be from the San Francisco studio. The local entertainment is to feature the studio orchestra and soloists, while the rest of the program will be from the studio orchestra and soloists.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

All at Once
When cleaning up the kitchen after a meal gather all the things together that are to go in the refrigerator and put them in it one time. Each time the door opens the refrigerator loses some of its chill, so it pays to open the door as few times as possible, particularly in the summer time.

Glove Silk Hosiery

Practically every woman has the same complaint to make concerning glove silk stockings—they wear out just above the shoe line at the heel. One woman cuts a triangular piece from the underside of the stocking that is always found on glove silk hose and carefully applies the piece over the worn part, making

Good lubricants

—but how much carbon
will they form?
What kind of carbon?

Over 3 times as much

Even the costliest oils form more carbon. Note these two piles of carbon: Each is the residue from an equal sample of burned oil. The top pile, over three times the largest, came from a popular high priced lubricant. The small pile is from the same amount of Shell Motor Oil—less carbon than any other oil would leave

Many fine lubricants, even the highest priced oils, have one great fault. They form hard, flinty carbon. Engineers have long recognized this fault; motorists are no longer overlooking it.

Deposited in layers inside your motor, flint carbon causes knocking. Abrasive bits drop off, grind into the working parts of the engine. Larger pieces hold valves open—waste power—expose valve stems to merciless, burning heat. Even a small quantity of this hard carbon causes serious trouble in a modern motor.

All lubricants form some carbon when they burn. But there is a vast difference in both the amount of carbon and the kind.

And in one particular oil the carbon problem has been overcome to an amazing degree.

Less carbon—soft carbon

Shell Motor Oil actually forms less than 1/2 the carbon you'd get from the costliest oil. And what little it does form is soft, sooty—a kind that blows away through the exhaust.

Great vacuum stills at Shell refineries produce this remarkable new lubricant. Unlike old-fashioned stills which "scorch" the oil in refining, this new Shell equipment works under exceedingly low pressures to produce an oil with all its sturdy body intact.

Shell Motor Oil will withstand heat enough to ruin ordinary oil. It is a surer, finer lubricant under every driving condition.

And while it serves you so well as a lubricant it is saving you the disastrous, clogging effects of hard coke-carbon. You may rightly say that it "adds thousands of miles to the life of your car."

Refill with Shell Motor Oil when the crankcase needs draining. Buy it always when you need an extra quart.

To those who drive late model cars
Today's high-compression motors have as little as one thirty-second of an inch "clearance" between cylinder head and pistons—too little space to allow even a thin layer of hard carbon without causing trouble. Shell Motor Oil, forming less carbon, soft carbon, is almost an essential to proper performance of motors of this type

Deposits in layers

Under the first finger are carbon deposits that were deposited by ordinary oil. Such carbon is hard, flinty, it tears paper; it will scratch brass—away steel.
The little carbon that Shell Motor Oil forms is soft, sooty-like. See how it merely smudges the lower paper—how it blows away through the exhaust

SHELL MOTOR OIL

Shell 400, the new "dry" gas that explodes cleanly and keeps out of the crankcase, is the ideal running mate for Shell Motor Oil. Even Shell Motor Oil can be ruined by "thinning" with a "wet" gas
